"FIRST BLACK MAN ON THE MOON"

By Terry Stanley

Synopsis:

Breaking News! NASA has discovered there is a man on the moon. Unknowingly, Mr. Leroy Jones, a member of the prep crew of Apollo 17, was still on the spacecraft when Mission Control initiated its launch in 1972. Now, nearly 50 years later, NASA has learned that Mr. Jones is still alive. Mission Control will make contact with him for the first time. We are witnessing an historic event; the first black man on the moon.

This is an over-the-top comedy. Reality has been suspended for this hilarious sketch in celebration of Black History Month.

Scripture: "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee"

Theme: Christian Fun

Lesson: God is everywhere; even on the Moon!

Genre: Comedy

Cast:

- News Correspondent Female (25-35)
- Dr. Elaine Stevenson Female (40+)
- Leroy Jones Adult Male

Costume:

- Leroy Jones Afro wig, long beard, astronaut crew uniform.
- News Correspondent Business casual
- Dr. Elaine Stevenson White lab jacket

Prop:

- Hand microphone
- Note pad
- Food tray soil/dirt, chicken nuggets
- Moon backdrop
- Bible

Screen Displays: (capture images from the internet)

- Breaking News opening video
- Johnson Mission Control Center
- Recorded Video of Leroy Jones on the Moon

Time: 8 minutes

Important Note: This script requires the use of video display screens in your church.

THE FIRST BLACK MAN ON THE MOON

EXT. MISSION CONTROL - NASA

SCREEN DISPLAY - BREAKING NEW YOU-TUBE VIDEO

NEWS CORRESPONDENT ENTERS.
(She is holding a microphone and note pad)

SCREEN DISPLAY - JOHNSON MISSION CONTROL CENTER

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

Good Morning. This is Heather Williams CNN News. We interrupt your program to bring you this special news report. We are live inside NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston Texas. We have just learned there is a man on the moon.

This is an AMAZING discovery. (Looks)
Here comes the Director of Mission
Operations for NASA, (Looks at her notes) Dr. Elaine Stevenson.

DR. STEVENSON ENTERS

NEWS CORRESPONDENT (CONT'D)

Hello Dr. Stevenson. Is it true? Is there a man on the moon?

DR. STEVENSON

Yes, a Russian moon rover discovered the man about 2 days ago. He's been identified as (Reading notes) Mr. Leroy Jones, an American. We are coordinating with the Russian cosmonaut on the International Space Station to connect us with the man.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

(Confused) How is that possible? I thought that last American moon landing was Apollo 17 in 1972?

DR. STEVENSON

(Embarrassed) Well, that's true. Our records show that Mr. Jones was a member of the Prep Crew. Apparently he was cleaning the spacecraft for launch, and we took off before he got off.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

This is unbelievable! A man has survived on the moon for nearly 50 years. I would love to talk to him.

DR. STEVENSON

Well, we are expected to make contact with him at any moment. I'll tell Mission Operations to connect the feed to your TV network so you can speak with him.

DR. STEVENSON EXITS

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

(Excited) Ladies and Gentlemen, this is truly historic! We will have an opportunity to speak with a man on the moon. (Pause) Oh I think the video feed is coming through now.

Note: The following dialogue by Leroy Jones is a recorded video. A video of Leroy's dialogue will show on the church screens, whereas the News Correspondent dialogue will be live in the church. You will need to allow time (non-verbal space) in the video to account for laughter and the News Correspondent questions before

Leroy provides a verbal answer in the video.

SCREEN DISPLAYS THE VIDEO OF LEROY JONES FROM THE MOON.

LEROY JONES, A BLACK MAN IS SITTING ON THE GROUND. He has an Afro bush (popular hairstyle in the 1970s), a long beard, and is wearing a prep crew uniform.

Note: I ordered a moon backdrop (via a Google search) for the video. You can create a moon surface background using a green screen app.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT (CONT'D)

Hello! Hello! Mr. Jones, can you hear me?

LEROY

Yes! Yes! I can hear you.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

(Shocked) Oh my goodness, you are an

African American!

LEROY

Well, I was when I left earth. Glad the moon hasn't changed me.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

That makes you the first black man on the moon!

LEROY

I never thought of it like that, but I guess you're right.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

What happened? How did you get to the moon?

LEROY

Well, I was cleaning the spaceship and I misunderstood Mission Control. They said it was time to \underline{LAUNCH} , and I thought they said it was time for \underline{LUNCH} .

LEROY (CONT'D)

So I sat down to eat. The next thing I knew, I was in orbit.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

But how did you get stranded? Why didn't you come back with the astronauts?

LEROY

Well, I was planning to, but when they told me I had to sit in the back of the bus...I mean spaceship, so I decided to stay.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

But how did you survive all this time on the moon? What did you eat?

LEROY

Well, let me tell you; this moon soil is AMAZZZING!!! You see I had a Chicken Nugget meal from McDonalds in my lunch box. And I was looking for a place to eat when I tripped on a rock and my food fell on the ground. So I just left it there. But something amazing happened. Apparently, the moon's soil replicates the DNA of matter. The next morning new chicken nuggets grew under the old food. Let me show you. (Quickly grabs a tray). This grew yesterday!

WE SEE SEVERAL CHICKEN NUGGETS ON A TRAY OF SOIL. LEROY POPS A NUGGET IN HIS MOUTH.

NEWS CORRESPONDENT

Oh my God, that's unbelievable. Well, what have you been doing?

NEWS CORRESPONDENT (CONT'D)

You've been alone for nearly 50 years.

How in the world was Mr. Jones able to survive on the moon all these years? Mr. Jones eventually shares the good news that no matter where you are, God is there also; even on the Moon.
